TLG Management Partners is an investment management firm specialised in agriculture in South America.

TLG started to help some of its family office and private equity clients deal with problematic legacy assets they inherited from the 2000s commodities boom. This side-business turning-around underperforming farmland investments has since become a fully-fledged asset management firm.

Today, it invests institutional capital directly in agricultural assets and manage them on behalf of its clients. It currently oversees investments representing over 100,000 ha in Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay and Uruguay, 50,000 ha of which it operates directly with its team to produce soybean, rice and beef.

Experience in assisting foreign investors

TLG Management Partners works with a broad range of sophisticated international investors, including private equity funds, family offices and high net worth individuals.

International Presence

TLG Management Partners manages 21 properties in Uruguay, Paraguay, Argentina and Brazil. It has offices in Uruguay, Paraguay, Brazil and Portugal.
