ABOUT THE PRODUCTION HOUSE

We are Pedro Barcia and Juan José López, founders of Nadador Cine, with over 20 years of experience in the audiovisual industry.

Founded a decade ago, Nadador Cine supports projects with a strong identity, working with both emerging filmmakers with distinctive voices and established directors from the local scene and Latin American cinema. Over the years, we have built solid partnerships with highly regarded production companies, developing works that gain international visibility at top-tier festivals and later reach major content platforms.

In addition to producing original content, we provide production services worldwide, offering experienced teams, deep local knowledge, and a solid, reliable production partner at both local and international levels.

MARKET OBJECTIVES

Miami Content Americas is a strategic market to strengthen relationships with international players and consolidate alliances, deepening Nadador Cine's international positioning. Our objective is to clearly present our author-driven profile and our capability to budget and execute high-level production services, supported by solid knowledge of Uruguay's fiscal incentives.

We aim to attract production services to Uruguay for films, series, and reality shows. Additionally, we are interested in establishing co-productions on high-value projects that already have financing in place, as well as evaluating new collaboration opportunities to expand strategic partnerships.

We see this market as a platform to consolidate value, expand operations, and share expertise.

ABOUT THE PRODUCTION HOUSE

In 2024, together with Cecilia Mato, they expanded the brand to Uruguay under the name Navajo Charrúa. This partnership brings together three producers with complementary careers and a shared vision: creating original content with international reach and providing high-level production services from a country offering a growing creative environment and strategic advantages for international co-productions.

MARKET OBJECTIVES

We are seeking co-producers who can provide financing and creative input for our in-house projects currently in development. In parallel, we aim to attract international content to be filmed in Uruguay by offering full production services, positioning the country as a reliable and competitive hub for global productions executed locally to the highest creative and technical standards.
